Singapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, Singapore has sponsored training courses and study visits for over 115,000 officials from more than 170 countries. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Singapore Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Institute of Public Administration, Doha, Qatar

The Institute of Public Administration (IPA), established by the Amiri Decree in 1997, is under the Ministry of Administrative Development.

IPA is committed to improving on the administrative processes, practices, behaviour and procedures through training, consulting and applied research. Since 1997, IPA has trained more than 11,000 participants in the region in public administration, finance and information technology. It has also carried out over 44 consulting studies for 18 governmental and private organisations.

IPA has actively engaged in linkages with reputable regional and international organisations, focusing on and addressing issues of management and administrative development.

Centre for Organisational Effectiveness

Centre for Organisational Effectiveness (COE) is a Management Consultancy firm with headquarter in Singapore, operating in three practice areas, Customers, Operations, and Enablers, forming the acronym of COE. We pride ourselves in our ability to provide a holistic integration of these practice areas for our work with our clients to achieve high performance.
